

"Jason's energetic and engaging presentation of successful companies' leadership traits was rated as the top takeaway by senior executives attending our leadership development program.

By combining a commitment to extensive research with humor and panache Jason provided valuable perspectives and meaningful insights on true leadership. His dedication to "business done well" takes him far beyond what tradition presenters are able to offer making his session extremely relevant to our executive's lives and their roles as leaders.

Finally, it's an absolute pleasure to work with Jason and we appreciate his focus on understanding our business and linking his message to our objectives."

Mary Cay Carsello
Senior Director Strategic Competencies,
Thomson University
Thomson Corporation

